"Make America Smart Again"
I tell them
"I hope they will stand against their own president.
If they can't,
this is where it ends
I can't believe they just stand and watch and do nothing."
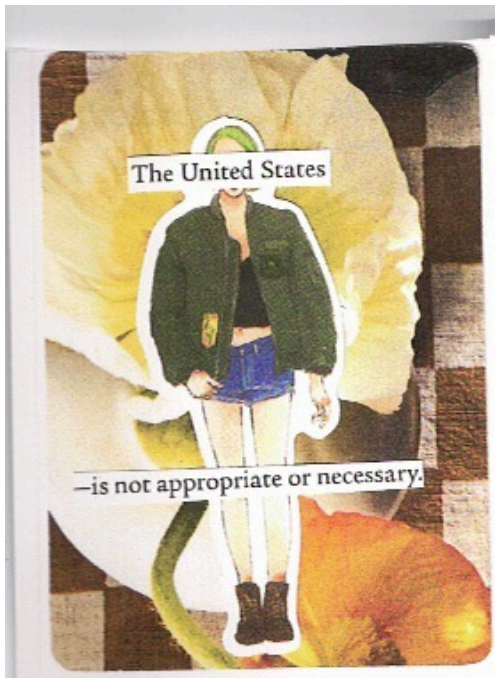
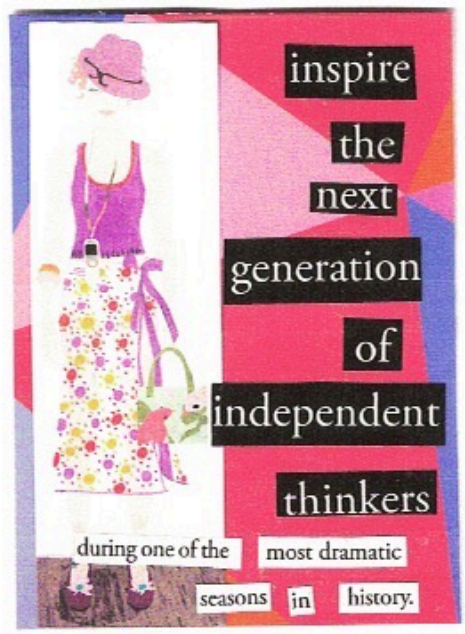
which is not nothing.



The United States
—is not appropriate or necessary.



inspire
the next generation
of independent thinkers
during one of the most dramatic seasons in history.

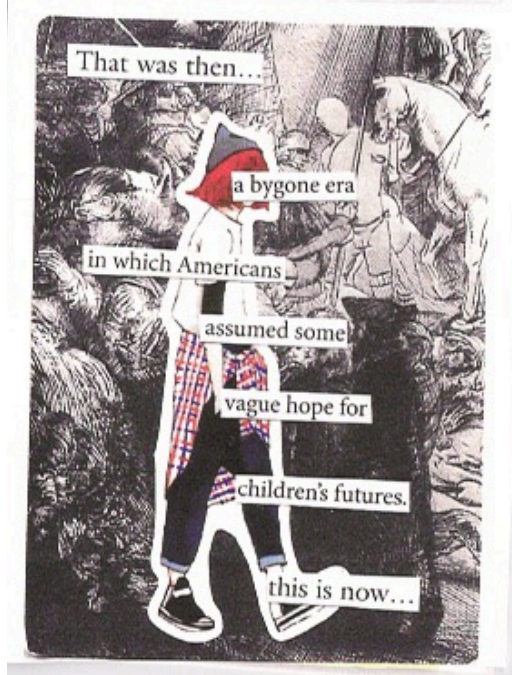
It's all been so
traumatic.
I don't even know
how to explain
to the kids
what's happening.



That was then...
a bygone era
in which Americans assumed some vague hope for children's futures.
this is now...

I DON'T WANT TO STOP BELIEVING IN ESSENTIAL DECENCY.

AMERICAN: What do you want?

Ah, that's not for you to decide.

AMERICAN: In America we're writing new rules.

because that's the generous kind of country America is.

all were created equal.

Americans would not of course be politically equal the challenge is ongoing.

AMERICAN: I'm an American
Our job is to be the best

The story is too terrible to repeat, but you keep talking

Barn's burnt down
Now
I can see the moon
